Russians Within 5 Miles of Kharkov

LONDON (AP)—Russian troops advanced to within five miles of Kharkov from the north-east today while other columns driving up from the southeast captured Chugueyev, 22 miles away from the Ukrainian manufacturing centre, Moscow said tonight.

The Russians, preparing to envelop Kharkov from three sides, captured more than 20 hamlets in their advance despite German resistance and counterattacks, according to a Russian communique broadcast from Moscow and recorded by the Soviet monitor.

Miss Robertson suffered a fractured skull when the army motorcycle she was riding with Woodward skidded and overturned on a curve on Madrona Drive, south of Chalet Road, Sidney.

She died the following day at Rest Haven.

Nazi Evacuation of Sicily Under Way

Huge Formation Of Fortresses Blast at Ruhr

LONDON (CP)—American four-engine bombers attacked Gelsenkirchen, Wesseling and Bonn in Germany's Rhineland today and U.S. Army Air Force headquarters said 25 of the big four-engine bombers were lost in the three-way daylight assault.

Capt. Clark Gable, the former movie star, rode in the leading Flying Fortress of the group and returned to base unhurt although enemy anti-aircraft fire cut 15 holes in his ship.

Gable stood during the entire six-hour flight between the pilot and the co-pilot, shooting movies for a gunnery training film.

The bombers shot down more than 20 enemy fighters, a communique said, and escorting Thunderbolts and Spitfires knocked down three others.

"Large formations" of Flying Fortresses attacked synthetic oil factories at Gelsenkirchen and Wesseling and struck at other industrial targets at Bonn, said the bulletin, issued jointly by the British air ministry and the U.S. army's European theatre headquarters.

The American thrust, made across the channel in bright sunlight, followed night raids on the Ruhr and Rhineland by R.A.F. Mosquitoes.

The German radio claimed that targets in the Rhineland, particularly Bonn, 15 miles southeast of Cologne, were hit by the American raiders. The Nazi broadcast said a strong force of four-engine bombers made the attack.

Bonn has a population of approximately 100,000. Known for its university and as the birthplace of Beethoven, it is a large railway centre.

An air ministry communique did not list specific objectives of the night-raiding Mosquitoes.

LARGE DAY FORCE
Coastal observers said the daylight force appeared to be fairly large.

In other operations by the R.A.F. during the night, mines were laid in enemy waters and railway targets in France and the low countries were attacked. One night bomber was reported missing.

German planes retaliated Wednesday night in the heaviest raid so far since an unnamed southwest coast town.

Eight persons were killed and a number were injured, it was announced, when bombs destroyed a number of dwellings and stores, and damaged two schools, a church and a number of shops.

Two neighboring towns also were attacked, it was announced, but only slight damage and no casualties were reported.

2,000 KILLED

The overnight attacks on German war production plants in the Ruhr and Rhineland followed a heavy Tuesday night attack on the Nazi shrine city of Nuremberg, where heavy R.A.F. and Canadian bombers spilled more than 1,500 long tons of explosives.

A Berne, Switzerland, report received by CBS said that 2,000 bodies had been recovered from the Nuremberg ruins, and that 40,000 persons were made homeless. Fires still burned in the city Wednesday night, the report said.

In Wednesday's daylight action, Whirlwind bombers attacked six small Axis vessels near the Isles of de Giove and Bruttia, blowing up four E-boats, setting another afire and blowing up the sixth vessel.

Prospect Lake Fire Rages Out of Control

One hundred soldiers and airmen were alighting on and off shift Saanich firemen to bring under control a Prospect Lake bush fire which today was reported to be raging over an area of 200 acres.

Saanich firemen have secured the use of a grader to build a fire guard to save several houses near Quail Road, which have been threatened by the blaze. Airmen and troops are using picks and shovels to build guards.

Because of a lack of water, firemen have only one pump, a small forestry machine, in action. It has been used to draw water out of Prospect Lake. About 5,000 feet of hose have been laid.

Churchill Visits Falls; Quebec Prepares for F.D.R.

QUEBEC (CP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill has left Quebec by train for an announced destination but military staff work continued today as British, American and Canadian officers prepared for his return and the arrival shortly of President Roosevelt for the two leaders' sixth wartime meeting.

(Latest reports (see page 3) said the British Prime Minister and his family had visited Niagara Falls, leaving today for an announced destination in the U.S.)

The military talks went ahead despite the absence of Mr. Churchill but the official liaison officer for the Quebec conference acknowledged today that even he "can't find out what's going on."

To newspapermen gathered for a brief press conference, A. D. Duntun of the Wartime Information Board said it can be "taken for granted" that military talks are proceeding.

The best-received news of the informative press meeting was that the City of Quebec and the Quebec provincial government tomorrow night will entertain correspondents covering the conference.

Mr. Churchill and Prime Minister Mackenzie King held a joint meeting of their respective cabinet war committees here Wednesday and in the British Prime Minister's absence most of the Canadian cabinet is staying here.

Wednesday Mr. Churchill and Mr. King completed preliminary conferences at a three-hour session of the war committees and the British War Cabinet was represented by the Prime Minister.

The duration of the war will be lengthened if an offensive cannot be launched on the Chinese front at the same time as offensives get under way on the other fronts," declared the army mouthpiece, Sao Tang-pao.

The Catholic newspaper Social Welfare said "it is a pity Stalin was not included" in the projected conference.

QMS. Jack Stevens Killed in Sicily

QMS. John "Jack" Stevens, 24, with the P.P.C.L.L. in Sicily, has been killed in action, his sister, Mrs. E. Adler, 2389 Dalhousie, learned Wednesday night. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Slade Stevens, 6289 Marguerite, Vancouver.

Born in Victoria and educated at Oaklands and Monterey Schools, QMS. Stevens left the geographic department of the provincial government here to join the army at the start of the war.

He was killed in action July 12. No details of his death were available.

Besides his parents and sister, he leaves a brother, E. Stevens, with the army in Canada, a second sister, Mrs. Gwen Bentley, Victoria, and a stepbrother, W. Duncalle, San Francisco.

Search Party Lost

CHILLIWACK, B.C. (CP)—The four-man ground party, which left Chilliwack before dawn Wednesday in search of the wreckage of the missing C.P.A. plane, is still unreported. The big airliner, which disappeared eight months ago with 13 persons on board, was sighted from the air on Aug. 9. Wreckage of the plane was scattered 7,000 feet high on a mountainside in the Cheam range, near Agassiz.

Hopes that the search party would return before tonight have faded as the provincial police have so far received no message.

Russ Stranglehold On Byansk, Kharkov Takes Firmer Grip

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW (AP)—The Russian stranglehold on Kharkov tightened today as Red Army troops drove within 7½ miles of the big Ukrainian city from the north-east and severed the Poltava-Kharkov railway, main lifeline of the defending Nazis, over a 10-mile stretch west of the nearly encircled bastion.

(The BBC reported that Kharkov is under fire from Russian guns.)

The big drive against Bryansk rolled ahead through fresh German tank divisions that had been rallied in an effort to halt the advance.

East of Kharkov, where Red Army forces were fighting their way tenaciously into the city's suburban districts, the Germans were reported felling cherry and apple trees to construct pillboxes among the ruins of the villages.

The drive on Bryansk from Orel pressed forward through 70 more villages Wednesday and drew steadily closer to the main objective.

(Both the Nazi high command and Transocean, German propaganda agency, said heavy Russian attacks continued south and southwest of Vyazma on the Smolensk front, an offensive not yet even hinted at in dispatches from Moscow. Transocean conceded that the Russians were driving toward Kharkov, but quoted Berlin military quarters as saying the city was not yet threatened.)

Yanks Land Behind Nazis Establish Shore Position

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NORTH AFRICA (AP)—A force of American infantry has again landed from the sea behind German lines on the north coast of Sicily in an amphibious operation more daring than the first and established a bridgehead east of Cape Orlando after cutting through powerful Nazi resistance.

Elsewhere in the battle for Sicily steady Allied advances were reported on all fronts and large-scale air attacks on the Italian mainland were resumed.

In the centre the key German base of Randazzo has been brought under heavy and light artillery fire. A British 8th Army column is reported more than half way along on the 10-mile road between Bronte and Randazzo while American troops fighting eastward along the road from Cusano are reported to be three miles from the town.

On the east coast the villages of Prajola and Zafferana Etnea, on the eastern slopes of Mount Etna, fell into the hands of the 8th Army.

(The daily communique, as received in New York, referred to capture of a "village south of Prajola and Zafferana Etnea. This dispatch presumably is based on later information.

American warships and fighter-bombers covered the landing, pouring shells, bombs and machine-gun fire into German detachments as they surged down the beach to give battle.

The surprise element which contributed to the success of the outflanking of the San Agata-Cesaro line from the sea at the week-end was lacking, but the Americans broke up the counterattacks, and a field dispatch said they had "successfully established a bridgehead."

The action, near the mouth of the Nazo river, 40 miles due west of Messina, probably trapped large German forces within a 10-mile area between the main American army attacking frontally along the north coast and the landing party at the rear.

A strong force of American planes bombed Termini, an important railway and manufacturing centre 50 miles north of Rome. Eighth Army vanguards now are 15 miles north of Catania and within 10 miles of Taormina, the port through which German forces in central Sicily are supplied.

(The point of armed contact in this coastal thrust apparently is at or near the port of Riposto, which lies 10 miles south of Taormina.)

Canadian Division Believed Resting

(The communique again did not mention Canadian troops and there has been speculation that Maj.-Gen. Simonds' 1st Division is resting following its month-long drive from its Pachino beachhead to the slopes of Mount Etna.)

The Americans had to fight their way ashore to launch the assault at dawn Wednesday and were met immediately by strong German counterattacks, reports to headquarters said today.

The new American landing behind the German lines developed as other detachments of the 7th Army consolidated positions in the area of San Marco d'Alunzio, between American-held San Agata and Cape Orlando.

Nazi Shore Patrols At High Tension

German shore patrols apparently were keyed up by the San Agata coup, which netted powerful fortifications and about 1,500 prisoners.

As soon as the fighting started the American warships trained their heavy guns on German troop concentrations and opened up. At the same instant the coordinated air support came into action and fighter-bomber squadrons dived on the enemy with guns blazing.

Nevertheless the Germans were able to mount a number of counterattacks. All were broken up and the Americans fought their way on to the shore objectives.

The warships then shifted their batteries, lobbing heavy shells at Nazi strong points along the beach and inland.

So far as was known here, the landing party has not yet established direct contact with the main American forces west of Cape Orlando. (A dispatch filed from the field this morning by Associated Press Correspondent Harold V. Boyle said the Americans had fought through the night in an effort to make this contact.)

Record Umbrella Of Ack-Ack Fire Shields Retreat

By NOLAND NORGAARD
WITH THE BRITISH 8TH ARMY IN SICILY (AP)—German evacuation of troops and equipment from Sicily to the Italian mainland was reported to be in full swing today, with at least 80 vessels plying night and day across the Messina Strait under a record umbrella of anti-aircraft fire, which was growing steadily in intensity.

Strong German rear guards, well entrenched with mortars, machine guns and artillery, and extensive road demolitions continued to make progress slow for the Allied armies converging on Messina and the evacuation beaches, while the bulk of the German troops were being withdrawn.

Determined to save all possible equipment, the German command was reported to have decreed that "the passport to Italy is a gun," meaning that troops must bring their weapons along if they want places in the boats at Messina.

British forces advancing along the east coast encountered a skeleton enemy force in a strong line covering the only avenues of approach with heavy mortar fire, and a battery of possibly 16 88-millimetre guns.

The narrow, winding mountain roads the Germans are defending made it extremely difficult to dislodge them.

Nazis Call It 'Disengagement'
Reuters meanwhile recorded a broadcast by Capt. Ludwig Serotius, German military commentator in Berlin, who said:

"The situation in Sicily is now characterized by a systematic new disengagement movement by German and Italian troops. . . . What matters is to prevent the enemy from extending his operations to objectives on the mainland."

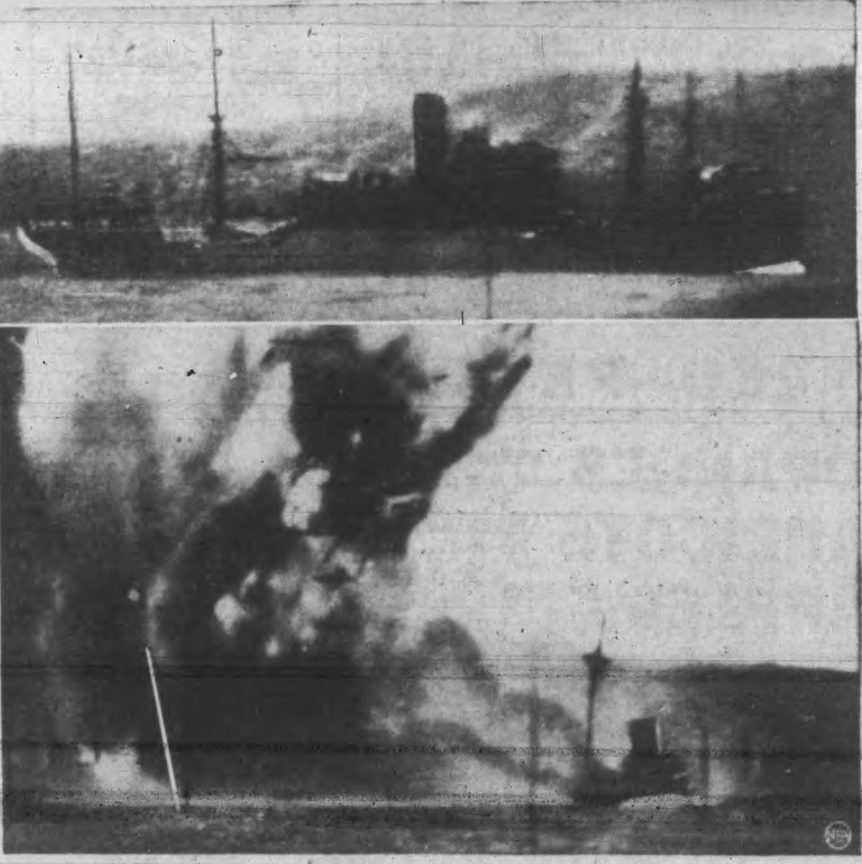

Germany Suspends Shipments to Italy
BERNE (AP)—A report from the German frontier said today that Germany has halted shipments of all types to Italy. Inside Italy, in the meantime, Premier Pietro Badoglio's government, although continuing the war, appeared to be awaiting developments on other fronts that might alter the Italian situation and provide a chance to take Italy out of the war.

The Rome correspondent of Die Tat of Zurich said the Italians recognized the importance to them of the forthcoming Churchill-Roosevelt meeting.

Italian newspapers, giving prominence to the conference, declared the Allies appeared uncertain whether the Casablanca formula of unconditional surrender applied to the political as well as the military field.

Canadian Troops' Left Hook Punch Helped 8th Army

By ROSS MUNRO

CATANIA, Sicily (Delayed, CP)—Success of the Canadian "left hook" on Aderno takes on greater proportions when the Simeto River battleground on the plains south of Catania is viewed first hand. That is where the Germans created an impressive defence line on concrete pill boxes, strong points and gun positions.

I drove from Aderno along the 8th Army's fluid new front to Catania and seeing this now broken Nazi line realized the vital importance of the wide flanking movement of the Etna line at Aderno. Without it the 8th Army might still be fighting before Catania.

The breakthrough at Aderno by the Canadians and the British 78th Division was a major factor in the enemy withdrawal northward here into the narrow corridor between Mount Etna and the sea.

From Aderno I traveled by jeep to Paterno and along a splendid macadam highway flanked by fertile fields to Catania, the second largest city in Sicily.

AIRDROMES BLASTED

On the outskirts of the city a group of airdromes from which the Germans pounded Malta and Tunisia was devastated by Allied bombing and shelling.

Hangars were mere skeletons, administration buildings were in ruins and airdromes plowed into a maze of bomb craters. Right by the road there were scores of fighters with the black crosses that distinguished the Luftwaffe. There were a couple of big troop-carrying gliders piled up.

A road from Catania led south through the plains to the Simeto River bridge where British divisions fought a series of gallant actions to establish a bridgehead. For days the British and German forces fought practically hand-to-hand with the battle swaying back and forth hourly. It was the roughest fighting since the encounter at the Wadi Akarit north of the Mareth Line in Tunisia—and even more intense.

FORMIDABLE LINE

It was a scattered but formidable defence line, thoroughly planned. But the move from the mountains of central Sicily by British and Canadian infantry, tanks and guns, in columns converging on Aderno, partially outflanked this line.

Nazi reserves were moved hastily from Catania to the Aderno sector to try to block the breakthrough but the effort was in vain. The Etna line collapsed with the fall of Centuripe and Aderno and the enemy pulled out from the Catania front.

On a kiosk was a poster of Prime Minister Churchill with the words, in Italian, "no matter what the difficulties and tribulations there will be born a new liberty and glory for all humanity." One citizen took pains to point it out to me.

What we call a "tip" is "pour-boire" in France. Literally, it means "for drink."

Probe Odd Story Of Baby Stealer

ALBANY, Ore. (AP)—The strange Judith Gurney kidnapping case grew more weird today as authorities checked conflicting stories of the past life of Mrs. Catherine Wright, 26, who confessed taking the two-day old baby girl from a hospital nursery last week.

Her story that she was wounded in the bombing of Pearl Harbor was challenged Wednesday by a Long Beach, Calif., cafe worker, who said he was her husband at the time.

Harry (Woody) Morgan told Long Beach police that he was married to the woman who now is the wife of army Sgt. Jesse Wright on Oct. 7, 1941, in Honolulu, and that her injuries resulted from falling off the back porch of their home a week later. District Attorney Harlow Weirick said Mrs. Wright told him after her arrest on a child-stealing charge that she had been married to Morgan but had obtained an annulment after three days.

She also told Weirick that she had been wounded by shell fragments on the head and neck while working as a teletype operator at Hickham Field during the Pearl Harbor attack.

Army authorities at Honolulu said they had no record of Mrs. Morgan having been employed there.

Sgt. Wright, who was led to believe he was a father, had told reporters that he thought Morgan was killed in the Pearl Harbor bombing. Wright, who had been held as

CBC Puts Victoria On Network; Programs May Originate Here

Victoria is now to be on the national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Announcement by Chairman Rene Morin of the CBC board of governors that the board in its sessions here had decided to link Radio Station CJVI to its network, was greeted with satisfaction today by community leaders who for the last two or three years have been campaigning for the connection.

"Victoria talent will no longer be isolated from the national network," said R. W. Mayhew, M.P., who urged Victoria's case before the members of the board at their sessions at the Empress Hotel. "Victoria artists and speakers no longer will be at a disadvantage compared with those in other centres which have had the CBC connection. Public events and other programs of national interest may now be carried out of Victoria as they have been regularly out of other cities on the network. Victoria people will appreciate the board's decision."

FINE REWARD

Mayor McGavin congratulated the radio board on its decision. "This city is the capital of Canada's Pacific coast province and should have full recognition by our national network," said the mayor. "The members of the board are also to be congratulated for coming out to the coast to hold their meetings here and so getting to know of the requirements of the country from personal contact."

President J. V. Johnson of the Chamber of Commerce, who with Chamber Secretary George I. Warren, also presented Victoria's case to the board members, said the business interests of Victoria were highly pleased over Mr. Morin's announcement.

"This is a fine reward for the efforts of all organizations and especially Mr. Mayhew, who has done a great deal to bring this about," said Mr. Johnson. M. V. Chesnut, manager at CJVI, said the Victoria station is fully equipped to handle the network connection, which it was assumed would at first operation be on a basis of three hours a day.

TO PUT VICTORIA ON

"We have been brought to the conclusion that the situation in Victoria deserved particular attention and that it was necessary to find some way in which to improve the service," said Mr. Morin. "As soon as the transmission lines are available from the mainland to Victoria, we have decided to put Victoria on our national network, either on the main or alternate network."

Mr. Morin said the board had decided to create an alternate network across Canada to handle the volume and variety of radio programs needed to meet the demands of the country. At the Victoria meetings it was decided to start on the organization of the alternate network now.

At a meeting last night in the lower lounge of the Empress under the leadership of regional representative in B.C., Mr. Morin dealt with the radio situation here and across the country. E. W. Holland, of Vancouver; R. W. Charleson of Ottawa; Mrs. Mary T. Sutherland, members of the board, also spoke, along with Dr. J. S. Thomson, general manager of CBC; Mayor McGavin and Mr. Mayhew. The meeting was preceded by a dinner attended by the visiting radio officials with a number of Victorians, including Mr. and Mrs. Mayhew, Hon. Herbert Anscomb and Mrs. Anscomb, Major-General and Mrs. Potts, Capt. Victor Allayne, Air Commodore McLeod, Bishop Sexton, Mayor McGavin, J. W. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Chesnut, Leut. and Mrs. Graeme Thompson, J. V. Johnson, George I. Warren, H. T. Matson, Harold Husband, Kenneth Drury.

Relay Transmitters For Interior B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three new relay transmitters, to be known as CBRL, CBRQ and CBRG of the Cariboo network, will begin operations Friday. It was announced here Wednesday by officials of Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. CBRL is located at Williams Lake, CBRG at Quesnel, and CBRQ at Prince George.

Dr. Jas. S. Thomson, general manager of the corporation, will speak to the new Cariboo listeners in an inaugural program from Vancouver Friday at 10:15 p.m. Other speakers will be Ira Dilworth, regional representative, and Gray Turgeon, M.P. for Cariboo.

British Columbia is the first province to try this new coverage technique, and with the new installations will have perhaps the best coverage of any part of Canada.

"This marks a very big step forward in bringing service to previously isolated communities," Mr. Dilworth said.

These low-power relay transmitters will be maintained at Williams Lake, Quesnel, and Prince George by either government telegraphs or Canadian National Telegraphs. There will be no studios or staff, and no local broadcasts. The units will relay network programs of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Unique in design, the transmitters were planned and built by Vancouver radio engineers especially for the purpose. They are licensed for an output of 20 watts, only a third of the maximum wattage, and will operate for months without attention. CBC engineers will make regular inspections as a double check.

When the new network goes into operation Friday it means that people living in isolated valleys up-country will have practically the same reception as citizens of Vancouver.

Free Water System For Dawson Creek

OTTAWA (CP)—The Pensions and National Health Department has been authorized to spend not more than $125,000 in purchasing material and paying for labor in providing a water supply system for Dawson Creek, B.C.

An Order-in-Council, approving a recommendation of Pensions Minister Mackenzie, said that the Dawson Creek civilian population had increased from about 330 to 2,000 in the last several months. The village is at the eastern end of the Alaska highway.

United States military authorities, who undertook construction of the highway, are building a water supply system of 2,000-gallons-a-day capacity for the use of their railroad camps near Dawson Creek and are prepared to provide water to the village from this system.

The water supply system will be constructed on the understanding the province of British Columbia will construct and finance an adequate sewer disposal system.

Surplus of Shipping For Allies at Last

LONDON (CP)—For the first time since the war began the Allies are reported to have a surplus of shipping—another indication of their readiness to strike with a full-scale invasion of Europe.

The surplus was reported by the London Financial News which explained, however, that the surplus was purely temporary, and that the position might be changed at any moment, either by new requirements or increased losses due to enemy action.

Japs Report Raids On Kuriles; Fear for Mainland

Today's WAR NEWS Analysis

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

This column Wednesday suggested that one of the problems likely to be discussed in the forthcoming conference between Messrs. Churchill and Roosevelt is what policy will bring the best post-war co-operation among Britain, the United States and Russia in particular, and all the Allies in general.

This great issue, as I see it, contemplates the likelihood that the Soviet Union will emerge from the war the dominant power in Europe, and perhaps in the Orient as well.

Now of course I don't know whether that subject will come before President Roosevelt and Premier Churchill. I just think it's so pressing that it almost inevitably must arise. Vice-President Henry Wallace of the United States pinned the thing down with startling bluntness last March when he declared:

"Unless the western democracies and Russia come to a satisfactory understanding before the war ends, I very much fear that world war No. 3 will be inevitable."

Mr. Wallace isn't the only one who foresees the possibility of conflicting interests.

The Yorkshire Post says Premier Joseph Stalin was invited to attend the conference but wasn't able to accept. The paper then warns that the "hour is at hand when it will be imperative for the United Nations to pursue a united course."

What's the exact point of all this anxiety as the war rushes towards its end?

Actually, there's no dark secret involved, and no reason why it shouldn't be discussed.

The point is that many astute observers throughout the world believe Russia will, as already stated, dominate Europe and maybe the Far East. Because this would represent a volcanic political upheaval, a lot of countries are afraid of the consequences. They are particularly fearful lest Communism should be thrust upon them.

All circumstances combine to make Russia heir to the politico-economic-military domination of central and eastern Europe which Hitler threw away when he started out to beat the world. The Soviet influence in the Far East long has been great, and the war will enhance it.

The problem is to work out some agreement among the major powers which will prevent the circumstances from developing adversely.

To Launch 3 Ships

TORONTO (CP) — Lt.-Cmdr. C. P. Harding, chief technical advisor of the Royal Canadian Navy, said Wednesday that three 10,000-ton freighters would be launched Saturday in a Montreal shipyard — "a record anywhere."

Harding spoke at a service club meeting. He added he could not reveal details of Canada's shipbuilding program but said the original schedule for 1943 called for construction of 144 ships of 10,000 tonnage but this program has since been increased considerably.

Nova Scotians Receive Awards

HAMILTON (CP) — Rescue of a woman and an infant "from the heavy smoke of a smoke screen test" at Halifax, Aug. 30, 1942, is recalled by the announcement by the Royal Canadian Humane Association of the award of their bronze medal for heroic action to Herbert Cooper of that city. The association's citation says Mr. Cooper has several other rescues to his credit.

Names of other Nova Scotians cited for the parchment certificates follow: Lawrence Landry, Purcell's Cove, N.S., for rescue of four persons from drowning near the Cove, Dec. 6, 1942. Clifford Bowser, Milford Station, N.S., for an attempted rescue in the Shubenacadie River, May 25, 1943.

Say U.S. Planes Aleutian Based, Easily Repulsed

NEW YORK (AP) — A Japanese broadcast recorded by the federal communications today reported American fliers had attacked the "northern section" of the Kurile Island approaches to Japan and warned:

"Further appearances of enemy planes from the north are to be expected."

In a later broadcast, the Tokyo radio identified the planes as eight heavy bombers, and said the raiders were Aleutian-based. The earlier announcement had claimed that Japanese anti-aircraft "promptly repulsed" the American attackers.

Domei, Japanese news agency, placed the attack at "7:20 a.m. this morning," but an announcement beamed to North America fixed the time as 10 minutes earlier.

The broadcast warned the Japanese that the raid must be regarded as resulting from "positive measures" that the United States had taken to "raid our mainland, Japan, from the north."

The first bombing of Japanese territory from Aleutian-based planes was made on Paramushiru July 20 without loss.

Airmen returning to Attu Island from that 1,530-mile round trip raid, said the bombing was no more difficult than the flights they had made against the Japanese base on Attu before it was retaken by American invading forces, and on Kiska, the only remaining Aleutian Island still in Japanese hands.

That flight took more than nine hours and the planes spent about 40 minutes over the target, meeting only light anti-aircraft fire.

The outlying Japanese air and naval base lies about 1,200 miles northeast of Tokyo.

Germany Cuts Off Trade of Sweden

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Germany has cut off Sweden's commercial trade with Italy by refusing to transport Swedish goods on the Reich's railways, an official statement disclosed today.

A statement from the German railway director to Sweden declared, "We can no longer transport your goods."

It came a week after Sweden announced the transport of German troops and war materials over Swedish railways between Germany, Norway and Finland would be discontinued this month. Sweden principally shipped Italy cellulose for artificial silk which was processed into textiles which Italy exported to Sweden. The Swedes also received fruit from Italy.

Hoist T.C.L. Parley

OTTAWA (CP) — The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada announced today postponement of its week-long annual convention, scheduled to have started at the Chateau Frontenac in Quebec Aug. 23, to Aug. 30 because of the visit of Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

The hotel has been taken over by the federal government for the duration of Mr. Churchill's visit.

SAANICH TAXES

My Saanich tax notice is to hand today. I note an increase of taxes, especially school taxes. Reeve Warren encloses a note with the tax statement in which he explains why there is an increase in levy.

"We taxpayers should feel very grateful to the school board that they refrained from demanding more than they have done. Because, according to our Reeve, 'the council has no alternative but to levy the amount requested by the school board for ordinary purposes.'"

It would seem to be only a matter of time and a short time when our tax statements will read "school taxes" and the rest nowhere. H. L. FENSHAM,

Churchills Visit Niagara Falls Gasp Like All Other Tourists

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — Prime Minister Churchill and his party arrived in Niagara Falls today in a six-car special train which was met by Maj.-Gen. C. F. Constantine, Officer Commanding Military District No. 2, with headquarters in Toronto.

The Prime Minister's daughter, Subaltern Mary Churchill of the A.T.S., left the train for a few minutes at the Victoria Park station. "My lad, I saw the falls before you were born," Mr. Churchill told the Canadian Press when asked if he had been here before. "They have been going quite a long time."

Later he said he had seen them first in 1900.

Mr. Churchill and his party went to the Falls directly from the station.

Mary Churchill, a subaltern in Britain's Auxiliary Territorial Service, was wearing her uniform which had two pips on the shoulders.

She told Mrs. Inglis, wife of the Niagara Falls mayor, that she nearly fell out of bed when she heard she was coming to Niagara Falls. She told the mayor that her mother was rather tired and she confided to the Canadian Press that her father had rested well on the overnight train ride.

CHURCHILL CHEERED

A few moments later Mr. Churchill made his appearance and the small crowd cheered. Wearing a grey fedora, a light grey summer suit, with cuffs on the trousers, he had the inevitable cigar in his mouth and carried a cane. As he descended the steps of the railway car, he gave the familiar V sign.

After the welcome by Mayor Inglis, the party—followed by the press cars—drove through beautiful green Queen Victoria Park to Table Rock house, at the edge of the Horseshoe Falls.

A hastily-selected bouquet of gladioli was presented to the Prime Minister's daughter by Mrs. Charlotte Bartom, hostess at the Park Commission restaurant. Mrs. Bartom accompanied the party on the trip, along with Maxim T. Grey, general manager of the parks commission.

Between gasps of delight at the sight of the wild green water tumbling over the precipice, Mary told Mrs. Bartom the flowers were "perfectly lovely."

With Niagara Falls as a whole apparently unaware of the distinguished visitors, the party drove from the Falls beneath the Rainbow Bridge and along the River Road to the whirlpool. Hardly anyone stood along the roadside to watch.

From the whirlpool they went to Queenston Heights, where the party saw from the veranda of Queenston Heights restaurant the broad vista of the Niagara moving towards Lake Ontario.

NO CLIMBING

Scarcely a glance did Mr. Churchill cast at the towering shaft of Brock Monument, commemorating Gen. Sir Isaac Brock, who was killed trying to storm Queenston Heights in the war of 1812. He told someone it was no stranger to him, and when asked if he would like to climb the 175 steps to the top, replied: "Would not be good for me at all."

Like any tourist, Mary selected a group of souvenir post cards in the restaurant, but James Brown, the man in charge of the card counter, would not let her pay.

"I'll send you a book as a souvenir," said Mr. Churchill and he asked for Brown's address. With shaking hand, Brown scrawled it out. Mr. Churchill handed the card to an aide and said: "Send him a book and a photograph."

The Prime Minister bent down and picked up a mignonette from a big bed of the flowers at the entrance to the restaurant as the party left. The motorcade swung away from the restaurant and back up the river road to the Lower Arch Bridge, which Mr. Churchill and his party crossed at 9:45 a.m.

Later the special train also was taken across the river to Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Communist Group To Talk With C.C.F.

VANCOUVER (CP) — A hand of co-operation was offered to the C.C.F. Wednesday night by the new British Columbia leftist party, organized and supported by former members of the banned Communist Party of Canada.

Winding up a daylong convention, the party, whose name remains to be chosen by a convention in Toronto later this month, passed a resolution which authorized the naming of a committee to meet the C.C.F. to work for co-operation "on all issues affecting the welfare of the Canadian people."

Several members voiced their skepticism that any degree of co-operation with the C.C.F. could be achieved, but the convention passed the resolution by a large majority.

Fergus McKean of Vancouver, veteran of British Columbia leftist movements, during the afternoon was picked as the provincial chief of the party.

The provincial executive consists of: Tom McEwen, Minerva Cooper, Hal Griffin, Bill Rigby, Chas. Stewart, John Chritenky, Margaret Black, Al Parkin, Frank Taylor, Ruth Turner, all of Vancouver; Roy Lavigne, New Westminster, and Frank Parker, Surrey. Their first meeting will be held here Friday.

Chosen as delegates to the national convention slated for Aug. 21-22 at Toronto were: Fergus McKean, Al Parkin, Tom

"That deserves a Sweet Cap!"

Canadians in uniform face many hazards in training or in action. And when danger is temporarily past, how eagerly a man reaches for a Sweet Cap! It helps him to relax—and does it so pleasantly, so unforgettably, that Sweet Caps are the most popular cigarettes with Canadians over here, over there, everywhere!

THURSDAY, AUG. 12, 1943

On The Radio Map

AT LONG LAST THIS CAPITAL CITY OF the province of British Columbia is to be connected with the national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. Although Mr. Rene Morin, chairman of the board of governors, could not be specific as to just when the permanent hook-up would be consummated, his announcement of the new policy will be received with warm approval by all the people of this community. This departure represents the satisfactory climax of the indefatigable labors of Mr. Mayhew, the City Council, Chamber of Commerce, and a host of progressive citizens who have smarted under what had appeared to be a species of exclusionism which had seriously handicapped this city's legitimate publicity.

As Mr. Morin inferred in an interview with this newspaper yesterday, the board of governors is required to watch the outgo of expenditure with an eagle eye. But we feel sure he will agree, on reflection, that such additional expenditure as may be involved in attaching Victoria to the national network will be amply soundly invested under innumerable heads. And may we remind Mr. Morin that this city has been an important benefactor to the CBC? Victoria gave the corporation its regional director for this province in the person of Mr. Ira Dilworth, an outstandingly efficient and courteous servant of the corporation. He would confirm for Mr. Morin's benefit our assertion that some of the most capable members of his staff hail from Victoria. CBC's ace war correspondent, Peter Stursberg—ex-reporter on this newspaper—also is another gift to the national radio organization from this city.

Nor do we think that Mr. Morin would be adverse to the suggestion that the board of governors might do worse than take some kind of Gallup Poll—the BBC uses the questionnaire system on a universal basis—in order to obtain a fair sample of public criticism or approval of its daily programs. With Victoria now assured of its place in the national radio service, however, some of this community's talent—often in demand by the regional director in Vancouver—may add important variety to the general entertainment and other schedules.

German Trickery

SO FAR AS THE OUTSIDE WORLD knows, the suggestion that Hitler had willingly or unwillingly surrendered his authority to a triumvirate composed of Reichsmarshal Goering, Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, and Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, was a trial balloon that seems to have gone astray. Surely the Herr Doktor Goebbels is not so foolish as to suppose he can fool Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt—to say nothing of Marshal Stalin and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. The Reich's propagandist and the oligarchy which gives him his instructions had better make up their minds to the fact that the leaders of the United Nations would not consider Germany's war any more respectable if run exclusively from now on by the military caste than if full authority is retained by the chief driving force of National Socialism. If last week's rumor had something of this nature in view—and it looked like it—its source made it suspect from the beginning. Madrid may be an excellent sounding board at times. Goebbels should shun it for his purpose.

As we contended in these columns yesterday, however, it is vitally urgent that Great Britain—and we include all British countries in any such collective calculation—the United States, the Soviet Union and China settle their political policy toward Germany after she has complied with the Unconditional Surrender dictum agreed upon at Casablanca. The war the United Nations are waging against the Reich is against Germany's Hitlerism and Germany's military machine. If the old Prussian gang should succeed in prying the Fuehrer loose from his authoritarian status, and it may, its first move might be a bid for a negotiated peace under which it could retain some of its fighting organization "to keep order," so to speak. With such a scheme in mind, of course, an important prerequisite would be the creation of a division among the Allies. That it would succeed ought to be ruled out. But some of the crafty men in Berlin are no doubt watching every move, both in Britain and in the United States, by that element which still looks under the bed o' nights to make sure a wild-eyed Bolshevik is not lurking there.

What happened after the armistice of 1918 is fresh in many minds. The proud boast of the Germans was that their armies were never beaten in the field; they stuck to their tale that the fighting men were let down by the folk on the home front. It was a trick that worked much more effectively than most people realized; and the gradual disagreement between the Allied and Associated Powers in the immediate post-war years enabled the military caste to shield their operations behind the Weimar Republic and its valiant, but fabled, efforts to live up to its obligations. But the advent of Hitler and the inexorable extension of his movement among the young people, aided immensely by the effects of the economic and monetary crisis and the loss of Allied prestige occasioned by the progressive renunciation of the provisions of the Treaty of Versailles—succeeded eventually in forging a coalition between the army and the politicians. How it worked the world knows well.

It is unthinkable, nevertheless, that Germany shall be allowed the faintest chance of repeating that piece of tragic history. That her schemers have some such an idea in mind, however, should not be lightly regarded. On this account it is highly desirable that the United Nations, without the least equivocation, shall make it abundantly clear that the Reich can escape further destruction of its cities and towns only by Unconditional Surrender. It can comply with this dictum in the immediate future or after obvious military defeat on German soil; but the anti-totalitarian coalition must be of one accord in reaffirming their implacable adherence to this irreducible minimum condition. Surely no intelligent person who does not wish to see another war a quarter of a century hence will fail to back his government in its intention to see this thing through to its logical end—the final destruction of the Nazi tyranny in all its forms.

More Members Needed

BY REASON OF ITS HISTORY, ITS ROLE in the present global conflict, and because of what the future holds for a maritime community like Victoria, the local branch of the Navy League of Canada should have no difficulty whatsoever in at least doubling the membership of this important organization. Nor should it be necessary at this late date to explain the main functions of the League; yet the fact remains that many, many Victorians who have not joined are well aware of its mission among the boys of the country who want to go to sea. But all they have to do to correct unwitting neglect is to get into touch with the secretary of the local branch of the parent body and the rest is simplicity itself.

What should be remembered by the citizens of this community is that many young Canadians have gone far in the Royal Canadian Navy or the Royal Navy because of the early training they received under the auspices of the League. And when they have returned on leave, for example, they have found such establishments as Prince Robert House—and other similar hostels throughout the land—dispensing those tangible and intangible comforts which mean so much to one away from home. This establishment, of course, is essentially a League institution and, in common with the services which it and the organization render in general, public subscription alone furnishes the means of maintenance. Every Victorian not now a member of the League will have a special opportunity of joining when the membership campaign opens next week. Never let it be said that this strategical Empire port—the gateway to the Pacific—failed to measure up to its responsibility in this vital regard.

That Would Be A Fight

CHICAGO'S POLITICAL PROGNOSTICATORS still insist that Colonel Robert Rutherford McCormick, editor and publisher of the Chicago Tribune, may be in a position next spring to make a preliminary bid for the Republican presidential nomination and to carry it to the stump in Illinois against the Roosevelt foreign and domestic policies—plus a private and public feud against Mr. Wendell L. Willkie and other progressive Republicans who subscribe to the general philosophy of "One World."

That Colonel McCormick's name will be entered as a Republican presidential candidate in Illinois's spring primaries, with or without the publisher's approval, is revealed by Mr. William J. Grace, secretary and founder of the Republican Nationalist Revival Committee. Mr. Willkie, unsuccessful Republican presidential candidate and titular head of his party, told reporters last week that if Colonel McCormick became a primary candidate he would stump Illinois to spread his own doctrine. "I certainly hope it is true," he said, "for then I could really make the issue clear—the gravest issue of the day, American relations to the rest of the world and liberal internal domestic policies."

In the opinion of many political observers, Mr. Willkie's entry into the Illinois primaries, which seems to be regarded as a foregone conclusion, may influence the colonel to enter the contest. The gulf between Colonel McCormick and Mr. Willkie, whose midwest popularity is attested by the wide sale of his book "One World," has widened substantially within the party in the last year. The fight would be an extremely interesting one.

Trumping Hitler's Last Card

HAMBURG'S USEFULNESS TO THE Nazi war machine as a producer of submarines would appear to have dropped to zero. Before the beginning of the recent series of mass assaults from the air the yards of Germany's second largest port were turning out at least a third of these underwater craft. But in addition to the destruction of U-boat construction facilities—which is a severe blow to the Fuehrer—come constant reports of highly successful Allied encounters with these marauders on the Atlantic. The latest concerns the fate of a "wolf-pack" of between 25 and 30 submarines which were prevented from launching even a single attack on an eastbound armada. Two and perhaps three of the "rattlesnakes" were sent to the bottom, and the "big Allied convoy" reached its destination safely. How magnificently are warships and planes working over the Atlantic sea lanes!

With restaurants on the rationed list, folks will have to swallow their pride and whatever else they can get.

WORRY IN COWICHAN

THAT very able, solid and honest weekly, The Cowichan Leader, is worried, and even in the August felicity of the Cowichan Valley it feels constrained to break out with an editorial demanding more trouble in the country. That is The Leader's complaint—there isn't enough trouble.

What we need, says The Leader, is some really tough and vigorous criticism of the government: Where, it asks, has criticism gone? It has stagnated and in parliament and press "there is a lack of cryptic analysis and belligerency that tells of a complacency which is profound and disquieting." We have been so busy criticizing our enemies in the war, The Leader thinks, that we have no time or energy left to condemn the government of Canada.

This discovery will bring a kind of melancholy delight to the government. It had thought it was under a withering fire of criticism. It had been reading the papers from coast to coast and finding them filled with attacks on it, with complaints and protests. It had watched the elections in British Columbia and in Ontario and found them bitterly critical. It had heard from one end of the country to the other a chorus of abuse over its regulations, its price and wage policies, its labor policies, its tax policies and, indeed, over every official act. Now it learns from the voice of Cowichan that our trouble is the government is getting off too lightly.

One wonders what the editor of The Leader reads. Has he ever heard of The Toronto Globe and Mail, which has been living for years now on a cup of coffee and a shrill scream? Has it heard of The Gazette in Montreal, which looks down on Ottawa with a kind of superior grandeur like a ruffled god in Olympus? Has it heard of The Vancouver Province, which regards the national scene with a kind of cold contempt and the permanent shadow of a sneer? Has it heard of The Winnipeg Free Press which, though it is considered the government's strongest supporter, is constantly spanking the government where it will do the most good?

WHERE DOES IT LIVE? NOW ADMITTEDLY the organized opposition of the Progressive Conservative Party isn't much use. Mr. Bracken has been unable so far to build up a real case against the government, despite the materials lying conveniently to his hand. But doubtless he will improve. Meanwhile, has The Leader heard of the C.C.F.? It is giving Canada the most fundamental criticism it has ever heard—not merely of the government's day-to-day acts, not merely of government policy, but of our entire social and economic system.

Where does The Leader live? In the cool recesses of the Cowichan Valley, of course, where, in happier days, we used to go to toss a dry fly on the foaming waters of the river. It lives in the most blessed valley on earth, close to the salt smell of the sea and the biting smell of the evergreen forest. There, perhaps, the currents of these times do not penetrate. There the sounds of distant strife are heard faintly, like a vague echo against the friendly bulk of Mount Tsahalem. Oh happy land, oh blessed retreat! What would one not give to sit in the cosy corner of Hugh Savage's editorial office, brooding happily on the fair sight of farm and forest, on the cheerful sounds of the little town, on the sweet rhythm of life as it was intended to be, in a compact and friendly society? Who would not be the editor of The Leader? Who, indeed, would not inhabit the Cowichan Valley if he had the chance, even as the humblest resident, even as the office boy or printer's devil in The Leader office?

TWILIGHT SOUNDS

FOR THERE, in a troubled world, is such a peace that even the angry buzz of our politics cannot be heard, even the militant revolution makes no dent, even the strident shrieks of the C.C.F. come as distant music, and the horrid groans of the old parties are no more than the soft sounds of twilight and cowbells in the summer fields.

Let not the editor stray abroad, or cross the bridge which spans the Cowichan, for he will find to his horror that all this peace is illusion. He will find this country and the whole western world writhing in such an agony of self-criticism as has never been witnessed among men before, a complete disgust with itself, a worship of everything foreign and a general assumption that all foreigners, all foreign civilizations and all other economic systems are infinitely superior to ours.

The editor of The Leader is happy now, though a little disgruntled for one issue. At all costs he must be prevented from reading the papers or listening to the politicians or talking to the common man on this side of the bridge.

"SAWDUST CAESAR"

He strutted once upon the Palatine
And shouted hoarsely from his balcony,
And fancied that he was a very god,
A second Caesar come to rule the world.

He hurled the torches of his tyranny
Hate-hot against an undefended race
And smiled to see them, helpless, writhe
And die.

Beneath the blasting fury of his bombs;
And, drunk with power, he prated of "our sea."

But now the two-edged sword of fate has slit
The fraying canvas of his bulging pride
And spilt the sawdust on the seven hills,
And strewn it underneath the feet of scorn—
And "Caesar" is no more.

—Robina Monkman.

Talking Up to the Bully

From North, South, East, West

"China has an army of 8,000,000 men," "China has no army worth mentioning," "China is our most populous ally," "China is not a major power."

WHAT ARE WE to believe amid the welter of contradictory statements? Voices are heard condemning the Allies' alleged "island hopping" strategy in the Pacific and major concentration on European fronts, and urging all-out aid to China as the quickest way to win the war in the Pacific.

Other voices tell us that even with the reopening of the Burma road, decisive large-scale operations in China will be impossible, that Chinese "victories" are really defeats, and the huge Chinese armies so poorly led and poorly trained as to neutralize their value.

The normally urbane and self-critical Lin Yutang is crying about a series of "insults" by the western allies to China and warning that China will take us on after Japan is finished if we don't wake up.

Military writer Hanson Baldwin of the New York Times is arguing that aid to China is the hardest way to beat Japan, and suggesting that maybe the navy will have to do it from Hawaii and Midway.

IT IS HARD TO FIND the truth in all that, but a fairly good official approximation to it can be discovered on the basis of what United Nations strategists are doing after considering all these arguments.

1. We are continuing the so-called "island-hopping," though official sources repudiate the name and the basic strategy that goes with it. Naturally, they don't say exactly what they are trying to do, but close observers see in our activities in the southwest Pacific an active policy of keeping up pressure on Japan with the resources available, forcing them to take risks and losses, whittling away their crucial air and sea strength.

2. We are continuing our aid to China, and expanding it gradually as we can, though it is still but a trickle. Our pilots have acquired more skill at Himalaya-hopping now, so that our remaining route to China is being used more efficiently. The tiny air force in China has grown to a small one, and the air support it has been able to give the Chinese already has buoyed their spirits notably.

3. We have embarked on a project of retraining Chinese officers and soldiers for modern warfare (which implies that they are going to get modern equipment). At present there is a school for men in the ranks in India, for the Chinese soldiers that retreated with Stilwell from the vain defence of Burma. Since April 1 there have also been two schools for officers in western China, itself, an infantry school and an artillery school under British and American direction.

As officers are trained, it is hoped that they will be able to go back to their commands and pass on the training to their men. Evidently the schools are going well, for though established in April, news of their existence has been released only lately. Reports on the Chinese pilots who have been trained to fly along with Gen. Chennault's squadrons shows what the Chinese can do, given training and equipment.

BETWEEN THEM, these developments make it pretty clear that we are planning on the Chinese for a large share in the Pacific war, though not an exclusive one.

As President Roosevelt put it, we are pushing toward positions from which we can eventually attack Japan proper "from the north, from the south, from the east, and from the west."

REASSURING NOTE

From Kansas City Times
Everyone is buying war bonds, saving fats and tin cans. Tell the boys that, despite the beefing on the part of the folks back here, we really don't mean it. It's just a good old American custom, and we like to shoot off our lip at every opportunity.

We shall not forget that Elre, a country which has fought many a battle for what it conceived to be the cause of liberty, should have stood aside neutral, indifferent to this one of the most dramatic and fateful struggles in the history of mankind. — British Home Secretary Herbert Morrison.

Friday the 13th, What of It?

Sure tomorrow's Friday the 13th and undoubtedly something will happen to somebody tomorrow just as something happens to somebody every Friday or any other day, whether it's the 13th or not.

But that's all there is to it. There's never been anything historical, statistical or otherwise to prove that Friday the 13th is any unluckier for human kind as a whole than any other day. In fact lots of people have found it a very fortunate day for themselves, personally.

This bogeyman trick of the calendar appeared three times last year: Remember them? They came in February, March and November. Tomorrow is its only comeback for 1943. Next year, too, it will come but once—in October. In 1945, it is down for a return engagement in April and July.

The chief culprits are Hitler, who said "I release man from the humiliating myth that is called conscience," and Goering, who said "Kill! Kill anyone who is against us! I take the responsibility."
—Moscow State Prosecutor.

Weddings

TREMBLAY-CARPENTIER

Rev. Father J. A. Gaudette solemnized the marriage between Aureole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rosario Carpentier, Duncan, and Mr. Robert Tremblay, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Tremblay, 730 Princess Avenue, Victoria, in St. Andrew's Cathedral Wednesday morning. Miss M. McKay was at the organ, and during the ceremony Madame M. Griffiths sang "Panis Angelicus." "Le Ciel a Visité la Terre" and in conclusion a hymn to the Virgin. Miss Stella Leavitt sang "Ave Maria" during the offertory.

Shasta daisies had been arranged on the altar. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length frock of white sheer with long sleeves and a veil cascading from a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of pink and white roses and carnations. The bridesmaids were Misses Lea Tremblay and Vera de Wilde, in long frocks of turquoise blue sheer, and tiny veiled hats; they carried bouquets of pink carnations and blue eucalyptus, and Miss Germaine Tremblay, maid of honor, was dressed in a pink sheer frock with matching picture hat and carried pink carnations. Mr. Rosaire Tremblay was his brother's groomsmen, and Messrs. Lawrence Lamotte and O.S. Larry Lynch, R.C.N., escorted the bridesmaids. Last night supper was served to the immediate family of the principals at Terry's, the table being centred with the cake flanked by vases of pink and mauve Michaelmas daisies. Monsignor A. G. Baker presided, and Rev. Father Gaudette said grace. This was followed by a reception at Macdonald Hall for 150 guests, including friends and members of the French-Canadian Club. For a honeymoon in Vancouver and at Harrison Hot Springs, the bride left in a powder blue suit with white accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Tremblay will make their home in Victoria.

Attorney-General's Son and Bride To Make Home Here

VANCOUVER—Uniforms, frocks and flowers carried the color theme of navy, white, gold and red for the naval-wedding Tuesday evening, at which pretty fair-haired Margaret Inez Le Couteur became the bride of Lieut. Robert Reid Maitland, R.C.N.V.R.

Nuptial rites for the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic H. Le Couteur and the son of British Columbia's attorney-general, R. L. Maitland, K.C., and Mrs. Maitland, were solemnized by Very Rev. Dean Cecil Swanson, who later proposed the bridal toast at the reception held at the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club, where the bride cut the wedding cake with a sword in traditional manner.

Lieut. Maitland, who returned to Canada last December following two years' service overseas, was supported by Lieut. Jack Campbell, R.C.N.V.R., and serving as ushers were three other R.C.N.V.R. officers, Lieuts. Owen Wright, Temple Hall Wright, and Chas. Draney.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was wearing a long white bengaline gown with a sweetheart neckline and tight bodice, a short train falling from the waistline in the back. Her fair hair was capped by a three-quarter length Queen Elizabeth veil edged with bridal lace, and she carried a shower bouquet of gardenias and swainsona.

Miss Nora Maitland, youngest sister of the groom was wearing an afternoon dress of navy blue sheer over white, cut on the same lines as the bride's gown, and trimmed with point d'esprit. Her white, crownless grosgrain ribbon hat had navy and white streamers, and she carried a bouquet of bright summer flowers. The junior bridesmaid, Miss Cathrine Le Couteur of Cincinnati, cousin of the bride, wore a white afternoon dress of point d'esprit with similar hat and flowers.

Lieut. Jack C. Campbell, R.C.N.V.R., acted as groomsmen, and a trio of naval lieutenants ushered. They were Lieut. Temple Wright, Lieut. Owen Wright and Lieut. Chas. Draney, all members of the R.C.N.V.R. At the reception, Dean Swanson, a friend of the bride's family, proposed the toast to the bride.

Following the reception, Lieut. and Mrs. Maitland left for Victoria, where the groom will shortly return to duty. They will reside in Victoria until the fall, when the bride will continue her studies at U.B.C.

which was appropriately decorated for the occasion. Games were played later, the winners being Mrs. V. Simms and Mrs. B. Simms. A sit-down supper was served at a lace-covered table centred with sweet peas and baby breath. The attending guests were: Mesdames W. Almond, B. Simms, G. F. Durrant, G. Almond, T. Cory, A. Fairley, G. W. Durrant, W. Bryant, R. Simms and Miss J. Simms.

Servicemen Thank Kindly Hostesses

Many women in Victoria are making the entertainment of men and women of the forces their special contribution to the war effort.

The following extracts have been taken from letters received by one hostess from the men to whom she has extended hospitality:

"It is rather fitting that I should choose Mother's Day to offer you my sincere thanks for the many kindnesses and favors you so unselfishly and thoughtfully rendered to us with a natural and congenial hospitality. I express my feelings, and I am sure those of Steve, John and Jack, when I say that your home will hold a cherished place in our fondest memories."

"Well, I guess you people will think I am some guy that has never written until now. But better late than never, I guess. I really enjoyed my stay at your place as it seemed so much like home. I sure was down-hearted until I got that transfer. Mother has been asking about you often."

Community Club's Garden Tea Success

Esquimalt Community Club held a successful garden party and silver tea Wednesday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. R. McVie, Lyall Street. Mrs. McVie, who opened the affair, was presented with a corsage bouquet of sweet peas by Mrs. Frank Ross, vice-president.

Stalls decorated in the club colors of green and gold were arranged on the lawns, Mrs. A. Gray being in charge of needlework and Mrs. L. P. Cochrell, miscellaneous articles. Individual tea tables were set out under the trees, Mrs. A. Draper acting as convener.

Games were played during the afternoon, continuing into the evening. A pleasing feature of the party was the presentation of an eiderdown to Miss Margaret Boyle, a young member of the club and an August bride-elect.

In the evening refreshments were served in the dining-room, the lace-covered table being centred with a crystal and silver bowl of sweet peas and yellow tapers in matching holders.

Duncan Girl Bugler

Wren Daphne Purvey, 21, Duncan, B.C., is the only girl bugler in the Canadian navy; and, as far as she knows, in any navy in the world. Wren Purvey is stationed at H.M.C.S. York, where she is studying bugling under Bandmaster P.O. Verne Gooch.

and she feels so grateful the way you treated me."

"First of all I want to thank you both for the most wonderful time you have given me in the past two months. It is hard to tell you how much I appreciate all you have done for me, but I assure you that I have never been looked after so well anywhere. Everything was perfect—those early morning breakfasts—Sunday evening feasts or listening to your favorite music are things I will never forget. If only there were more men and women like you in this world!"

"(From the girl friend of one of the boys): 'I wanted to write you several times to thank you for your kindness to Don and all the Montreal boys. The world becomes a lonely and strange place to our boys, particularly those who have never been away from home before. To meet a kindred spirit along the way is never fully appreciated except by ones you know.'"

"I often recall the happy times I had and the pleasant week-ends I spent at your home. I shall always treasure joyful recollections of my first few months in the army—thanks to you."

During the summer months when so many people are away on vacation the Citizens' War Services Hospitality Committee finds it very difficult to fill the demand for home invitations for the forces. Where hostesses are unable to entertain individually, the committee would like to urge them very strongly to join together and invite a group of boys to one home with perhaps two or three hostesses sharing in providing the food and entertainment.

Anyone able to invite guests through the committee is asked to phone Miss Ellen Hart, G 5425.

Columbia Red Cross Fete Nets $100

One hundred dollars will be turned in to the Red Cross as a result of the garden party sponsored by the Columbia unit, and held in the garden of Mrs. J. K. Frost, Tulip Avenue, Wednesday. Mrs. H. S. Beckton of the Victoria branch of the Red Cross, opened the affair, and was presented with a boutonniere of mauve sweet peas by Mrs. E. E. Gregg. Mrs. Beckton was accompanied by Mrs. J. L. Grimison. Mrs. F. Stacey, convener; Mrs. J. K. Frost and Mrs. T. W. Hall welcomed the guests.

Members of the Portage Inlet Victory Club delighted the visitors with their dances. Freya and Edith Rodstrom performed a fairy dance, "The Lily and the Rose," whilst Freya gave a pretty solo number. The "Gypsy Frolic" was rendered by Daisy Chandler,

Joan Martin, Alice Webber and Edith Rodstrom. The little dancers were presented to Mrs. Beckton and Mrs. Grimison, who congratulated them on their charming performance and on the work they had recently done for the Red Cross and for the Milk Fund. The stalls were well patronized and were presided over by Mrs. J. McNair Paterson and Mrs. G. Plater at the fancy and superfluous stall; Mrs. Clark and Mrs. J. Partridge, home cooking and ice cream; Miss K. Brown, spinning wheel and cold drinks. The contests were arranged by Mrs. T. Whelden, Mrs. T. Mayfield and Mr. W. C. Scott.

Tea was in the capable hands of Miss E. Brown, Mrs. R. Wilkinson, Mrs. J. Cudmore, Mrs. E. Stidder, ably assisted by Miss June Willis and Miss Cora Winters. Mrs. E. G. Alcock gave tea-cup readings. The treasurer, Mrs. C. A. Berry, was in charge of receipts.

No Fee Waiving For Evacuee

Victoria's school board Wednesday night rescinded the motion it passed at the previous meeting to permit an English evacuee residing in Esquimalt to attend Victoria High School without payment of regular fees.

Trustee Austin Curtis, who opposed the original action although he agreed with the sentiment which prompted its passing, reopened the question and asked the board to reverse its decision.

"We're opening up a very wide question which involves the whole issue of inter-municipal fee payments," he said. The original motion had carried on sympathetic grounds but was, to a degree, an unsisterly act to the neighboring municipality which had an accredited high school, he added.

Trustee W. A. Bayliss seconded the motion, saying he had been swayed by sympathy when he finally agreed to the original plan.

Trustee Harry E. Douglas maintained his position to waive the fees.

"I think we would be foolish to go back on our decision. I haven't changed my mind. It was a courtesy to an evacuee," he said.

Trustee Curtis reminded the board it was charging 50 or 60 Saanich children fees and laid down the same conditions for Oak Bay. The precedent, he said, was dangerous. He and Trustee Cecil M. Parrott said they had heard many criticisms over the board's action.

When the question went to the vote, Trustees Curtis, Bayliss, Parrott and G. A. B. Hall were in the affirmative.

Board Chairman F. G. Mulliner said he had agreed with Trustee Curtis in the first instance but had been engulfed in the wave of sympathy which influenced the original vote.

A.R.P. Opens Drive For 72 Firewomen

A recruiting drive to secure at least 72 women firefighters was announced today by Inspector A. H. Bishop, Victoria A.R.P. controller, who said district wardens would make a canvass of their districts, and he would ask permission of the school board to address older high school girls.

Inspector Bishop indicated that he expected a good response to the drive which will make Victoria the first Canadian city to have women firefighters.

The women will be trained by fire department personnel, he said, to assist in combatting incendiaries if and when Victoria is subjected to an air attack.

If present plans are carried out each Victoria A.R.P. district will have a small corps of women firefighters.

Preprimary Class Out

No preprimary class to care for children of war-working mothers will be opened here in September.

Reviewing a report on applications, the City School Board Wednesday night learned only 19 of the 33 parents who had applied were planning to enter war industries. Eight of the prospective pupils were under the minimum age of four years in September and mothers of 14 of them were planning to accept employment in retail stores, restaurants and other businesses.

"It is felt," said a section of the education committee's report, "that many parents desiring to accept wartime employment have failed to register their pre-school children and it is recommended that the applications be accepted during the fall term. If there are sufficient applications, the subject can be reopened in December."

Preliminary arrangements were also made to leave Spring Ridge School closed when term starts. Beginners who would have started there will be received at George Jay. If necessary, a class of pupils may be placed in Spring Ridge, but will be classed as a division of George Jay.

If your complexion looks faded, has lost its glow, and you are looking down in the mirror as well as acting that way—try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Persistent fatigue that finds you as weary in the morning as if you had had no sleep, that makes your energy, & often caused by a lowering of the iron level in your blood. This condition may also have a further reaction on health, for without sufficient iron your body may not be able to get the full advantage of the vitamins and proteins, food elements in what you eat.

Don't let this state of affairs go on and on until you are really sick. Get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today from your druggist—see how good it feels when you pop up with more iron in your blood.

Hobby and cultural courses will be missing from the night school curriculum when it is released for the fall term. The action is taken as an economy measure, but practical courses such as those in commercial subjects, dressmaking and cooking, electricity, carpentry and engineering will be offered as usual.

Resignation of R. A. Gale from the South Park teaching staff was accepted with the explanation Mr. Gale will continue his studies in chemistry at the university.

Immediate registration of young children beginning school in Victoria in September was asked in a motion from the education committee. Such registrations will be accepted at the school board office.

The board now has on hand 2,000 slates from the roof of Victoria West School which has been shingled and the salvaged materials will be used on other school buildings. Trustee W. A. Bayliss reported for the building and grounds committee. Improvements listed during the vacation included completion of work at the Victoria High tech unit, redecorating of the Junior High, re-laying and strengthening of floors at Kingston Street, completion of the medical dental centre at Burnside, reshingling of the Sir James Douglas annex roof and improvement of heating systems, including replacement of those at Beacon Hill and Margaret Jenkins.

The Northern Electric Company Limited was given the contract to install fluorescent lamp units in the board office at a cost of $244.75.

Through the diligence of the secretary, T. L. Christie, the board was able to complete its increased insurance coverage before estimated costs. Trustee Curtis reported.

The same trustee told the board it would have to pay $475.17 into the superannuation fund to meet a deficiency arising from charges levied on the basis of 1938-39 salaries which grossed more than those of the 1942-43 year.

The board agreed to meet the city health committee to discuss a proposal from the acting city health officer suggesting amalgamation of city and school health services.

Chairman F. G. Mulliner and Trustee Austin Curtis were asked to study and report back to the board on a request from the Victoria Musical Arts Society for use of the High School auditorium for educational programs every third Wednesday in the months from October to March inclusive.

The National War Finance committee was granted use of the High School auditorium for a program sponsored by the F. W. Woolworth Company, Aug. 23, upon payment of the usual charges.

A request from Trustee Mrs. F. Paterson, Saanich, for part-time services of Miss Marian James, city primary supervisor, with that municipality paying its share of her salary, was referred to the education committee for a report.

Congratulations were extended to the Gyo Club for its successful hole-in-one contest in aid of the Solarium.

A new salary schedule for engineer-janitors was approved by the board. The set-up specified rates of pay for schools of various sizes ranging from a minimum of $60 a month for the smallest to a maximum of $135 for the largest. Yearly increments vary from $2.50 to $5, certain seniority rights are granted and all engineer-janitors will remain on present salary until they obtain Fourth Class Engineers' Certificates or better. Top salary for the Victoria High engineer was listed at $150, and the age for permanent staff members starting in the service was set at a maximum of 35 years with the proviso applicants should have satisfactory references and certificates.

Mashed Potatoes Lose Vitamin C

Don't mash the potatoes (when you have any) if you want to get vitamin C from them. This new diet tip comes from studies by Dr. G. N. Jenkins of St. Bartholomew's Medical College at Cambridge, England, which are reported in the latest issue to arrive here of the English scientific journal, Nature.

The advice applies particularly to cooks in restaurants, cafeterias, boarding houses and the like, where large amounts of potatoes are mashed at one time and then kept hot for periods ranging from 15 minutes to an hour or more before being eaten.

When a large batch of potatoes was mashed by hand under large-scale catering conditions, Dr. Jenkins reports, the time required was 10 minutes. About one-third of the vitamin C content was lost. After being kept hot for 30 minutes, mashed potatoes had only one-tenth of the vitamin C they had immediately after being mashed, he found in another experiment. Whether the mashed potatoes or other vegetables are kept hot in bulk or in small helpings does not seem to make any difference in the amount of vitamin C lost through being kept hot for a period before serving.

Mashed potatoes for the family dinner apparently would be given scientific okay if the family is small enough and the cook efficient enough so that the potatoes could be mashed within two or three minutes and served immediately.

Vitamin C is the scurvy-preventing vitamin found abundantly in oranges and other citrus fruits, and in tomatoes. Potatoes are also a good source of this vitamin, particularly for those on limited food budgets who cannot have much citrus fruit and who eat large quantities of potatoes as a cheap and filling food.

Alexander Ross, Alderman Lloyd Morgan, Mayor Andrew McGavin, G. O. Derby, district representative of the Department of Pensions and National Health, Vancouver; Inspector A. H. Bishop, Victoria A.R.P. Controller, and Alex Munroe, Victoria fire chief.

Saying the war in the Pacific had not started yet and will continue after the finish the war in Europe, Brig-Gen. Alexander Ross, C.M.G., D.S.O., new national director of civilian defence, warned against apathy of the public in supporting the A.R.P. service.

Gen. Ross said the A.R.P. service cannot defend the people if they won't defend themselves.

Gen. Ross and his party left Victoria today for Nanaimo. He will proceed to Ottawa immediately following a short inspection at the up-island centre.

Wednesday the federal A.R.P. director visited first aid posts and gas centres in Victoria and the adjoining municipalities, and met with A.R.P. controllers, fire practice or regimentation, but through supplemental service."

The problem can and should be solved, he said, whereby the indigent can be cared for, the patient retaining the choice of his physician and the physician receiving remuneration on a fee basis for services rendered.

"It is being done at this time in many states in the case of the indigent crippled child, and to the satisfaction of orthopedic surgeons and hospital authorities," he pointed out. "If it can be done for one group, it can be done for all. What we need is action through organized leadership."

Quoting extensively from the Bible, Dr. Reynolds declared that man must continue striving to regain his biblical heritage of a robust, healthy old age lost when he listened "to the vain promises of the world's first dictator, the serpent in Eden," and must, if he would survive, follow the admonition to become his brother's keeper.

"Even today," he declared, "we have too many Adam's sons—Cains—in the world of industry, labor and even in our own profession and in our churches that yield not to 'Am I my brother's keeper?' nor I am my brother's keeper and thus failing, forfeit the right to survive."

Charging that "we physicians are still individualistic, Dr. Reynolds also declared that to regiment medical service would destroy its efficiency. He presented a plan for solving the problem of getting medical care to those needing it as follows:

Organization of a board of directors comprised of the secretary and chairman of the executive committee of the state medical society; representatives from county medical societies; governmental representation; state and county health officers; representatives from public welfare, public instruction, parent-teacher associations, hospital boards, institutions for the blind, mental hygiene and civic clubs and philanthropic citizens.

This board should devise ways and means to "render service to its citizenry in preventive medicine, medical and surgical care, maternal and child hygiene, crippled children and care for the blind and insane. The financing of such an undertaking," he stated, "should come, not through state medicine, contract and police chiefs as well as civic heads.

He had a lengthy interview with Premier John Hart, head of the provincial A.R.P., and met Dr. C. S. Beals, provincial gas officer.

He spent considerable time with the City Council's War Emergency Committee and obtained a good picture of what has been accomplished here.

South African war. He is now working as a civilian tailor at Work Point Barracks. His son, Jack, is a warrant officer with the R.C.O.C. overseas.

The medal is awarded to former members of the force above the rank of sergeant, who are in possession of the long service and good conduct medals, and have been discharged to pension after 21 years' service.

Triumvirate of Hitler Aides to Rule Reich?

ISLAND

Dorothy Dix:

Dear Dorothy Dix: My girl friend and I want to join the Waves together. Her mother has given her consent cheerfully to her doing so, but my mother absolutely refuses to let me do so. She says that I won't like the navy after I have been in it a month and will come straight back home; that I won't be able to stand the grind, and that I am not old enough to know my own mind, although I am 21 years old and am earning my own living. She threatens to kill herself if I leave her.

I have two older sisters who are married and two brothers also older than I am. One of my brothers is in the service, the other sisters and brother live near enough to my mother to look after her. She has also a boy of 13 at home with her and her husband, my stepfather, so she would not be left alone.

I feel that if I join the Waves I will be able to help my country and also to learn a trade that will assure me of a career after the war, but I hate to hurt my mother by doing something of which she disapproves so violently. What should I do?

TWENTY-ONE.

GIRL AT 21 CAN REACH OWN VERDICTS

Answer: I think a girl of 21 is old enough to make her own decisions, and that if she has intelligence and stability enough to hold down a good job and make her own living, she is competent to weigh the advantages and disadvantages of any plan that she has in mind and determine whether she is physically and temperamentally fitted to carry it out, or not.

You are aware that becoming a Wave is no picnic. It is no mere matter of wearing a natty uniform and being a conspicuous figure wherever you go and having people cheer you and pat you on the back. It is hard work and often dirty and unbecoming work, and stern discipline such as you have never known, and doing without the luxuries and comforts you are accustomed to, and it may be running into danger and death. But your country needs you: Your country is calling for you, and it is up to you whether you listen to Uncle Sam or Mama.

Your mother is evidently one of the possessive mothers who want other women's children to go out and fight and protect them while theirs stay at home and bear them company.

Canadian Missionaries Tortured, Slain By Japs

CHUNGKING (AP)—A Chinese press report today said that the Japanese have executed three Canadian missionaries at Hsueh-shan, in Kiangsu province, after several months of imprisonment and torture. The report gave no names or any clue to the identity of the alleged victims.

Elephants Enjoy Excellent Care At Zoos

Yesterday I said that an elephant "almost surely would die" without its trunk. Today I wish to speak of an African elephant which lost a part of her trunk and lived.

Her name was Alice, and she lived in the London Zoo. One morning a keeper found the end of her trunk—a piece about a foot long—lying on the ground. Alice was soaking the rest of the trunk in a tank of cold water.

Just how the trunk was cut, no one knows. It is believed that she put her trunk in her mouth to blow down some water and then, by accident, bit the end, coughing it up later.

In any case, the end was off. Alice kept her injured trunk in the water until the bleeding stopped. Later she was fed with biscuits and other pieces of food which were tossed into her mouth. She was supplied with water from a hose.

Days and weeks passed, and the trunk healed over. It was shorter at the end and much more blunt, but Alice was able to use it to pick things up, and to supply herself with all the food and water she needed.

That was a case in which an elephant lost part of its trunk and lived. In a state of Nature, the accident probably would not have turned out so well.

The tender treatment of Alice is only one of many examples which might be given to show how elephants are treated in zoos.

Experts watch the feet of zoo elephants. The toe nails are trimmed off with a file or with sandpaper.

Sometimes elephants suffer from stomach ache, and are given medicine. Certain zoos have used "gin and ginger" for this purpose, and at one zoo an elephant became fond of the medicine. His name was Zip, and he used to roll on the ground and make believe he had stomach ache—so he could get more medicine! This trick worked several times, but the keepers at last figured it out.

The famous African elephant, Jumbo, had a keeper named Matthew Scott, who was the only person he would obey at the London Zoo. When Barnum bought Jumbo to show to the American public, he also hired the keeper.

Otters and sea lions, among the finest of all divers and swimmers, have to teach the art to their young.

True fruits of strawberries are the tiny specks embedded in the surface and popularly called seeds.

Victoria Woman, Wife of Soldier, Cooks For Troops

By DENISE DALTROFF

LONDON (CP)—Job of cooking at a Canadian Women's Army Corps barracks in London is in the capable hands of Canadian women such as Pte. Minnie Howe of Winnipeg and Pte. Marie Crawford of Victoria, B.C., both married and by no means the only representatives of their families serving in the forces.

Pte. Howe has two sons in the Canadian army in Britain, Harry, 22, and Jimmy, 20. June, a twin sister of Jimmy, is in the C.W.A.C.'s in Canada.

Pte. Crawford enlisted in the C.W.A.C.'s in August, 1942, and joined her husband, Pte. William Crawford, member of the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps, in Britain early this year. Their son, William, also is here, as a staff sergeant in a reconnaissance unit. Their daughter, Mary, was in the C.W.A.C.'s for a year as a transport driver until receiving a discharge because of ill-health.

PROFESSORS' COOK

Before the war Pte. Howe was a housekeeper and cook for 28 University of Toronto professors. Used to cooking for large families, she was right at home in the barracks' kitchen with its huge brick range. She joined the C.W.A.C.'s in July, 1942, and came to Britain three months ago.

"There isn't much difference between the food we get at home and here," she said. "We get a good quantity though it isn't quite as varied as at home. There aren't any particular Canadian dishes we make for the girls, and we cook mostly to a schedule."

EVENING MEAL

The main meal of the day is cooked in the evening because many of the girls work away from the barracks during the day and eat in the canteens. Lunch at the barracks consists of cold meat and salads or macaroni and cheese. For dinner, though, there is meat, potatoes, vegetables and pastries.

The cooks at the barracks work in shifts of 24 hours on and 21 hours off. Most of them, like Pte. Howe, like to wander around London on their off-duty periods, discovering the old and odd-looking alleys and buildings to be found on London's side streets.

Posthumous Award Of R.C.H.A. Medal To Waterdown Man

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP)—Only eight times in the 50 years of Royal Canadian Humane Association awards for heroic deeds has the gold medal of that organization been issued. It is announced today that the eighth in the line has been awarded posthumously to Anthony Bennett of Waterdown, Ont., for his heroic attempt to rescue three children from drowning in a gravel pond at Aldershot, Ont., June 18, this year.

The association's citation reads: "Mr. Bennett, a non-swimmer, not thinking of his own life but that of the children, jumped into the water full clothed, to the children's rescue. When he got within a few feet of the children they all went under water."

Bronze medals of the association are awarded to L.Bdr. Wm. Bartlett and Jack Wilson, Burlington, Ont., for attempting to rescue two men from drowning in Lake Ontario, April 28. Bartlett and Wilson paddled out on a plank, using boards for paddles, till they came alongside the two men who had been dumped from their craft in choppy waters.

They were unable to bring the men in alive, however, and were themselves in a dangerous situation when they were rescued by Robert Neilson of Burlington, who is awarded the association's parchment certificate.

OTHER PARCHMENTS

Parchment certificates are awarded also to the following Ontario people:

LAC. H. J. Webb, Brantford, for a rescue from drowning in the Grand River, April 22.

John MacLean, London, Ont., for rescue of a two-year-old boy from a burning house in London, Dec. 10, 1942.

Francis H. Kilbreath, Sarnia, Ont., for a rescue in the St. Clair River, April 6.

Ernest Blackman, Seeley's Bay, Ont., for a rescue in Seeley's Bay, May 19.

William G. Dobson and E. F. Swindall of London, Ont., for saving a number of persons from possible electrocution in London, March 19.

It is estimated that Americans spend $8,000,000 annually by adding the word "please" to their telegrams.
